

You are cordially invited to attend a panel and book launch party celebrating CPR's recently released Corporate Counsel Manual for Cross-Border Dispute Resolution.

When: November 30, 2017
6 - 7:30 pm - Panel Discussion
7:30 pm – Cocktails and hors d'oeuvres

Where: White & Case, 1221 6th Avenue, New York, NY 10020

Brought to you by CPR's Arbitration Committee, this indispensable new resource provides guidance on drafting and planning for any common form of alternative dispute resolution in international business transactions, as well as tips on managing specific situations in-house counsel may encounter in international business disputes.

The event will feature a panel on drafting ADR clauses and planning for cross-border disputes. The panelists (and the topics they covered in the Manual) are:

- Ank Santens, White & Case – Drafting arbitration clauses, necessary elements
- Jessica Beess und Chrostin, King & Spalding – Drafting arbitration clauses, optional elements
- Rona Shamoon, Independent Arbitrator – Difficult jurisdictions / sole option clauses
- Jennifer Glasser, White & Case – Multi-party and multi-contract arbitration clauses
- Sherman Kahn, Mauriel Kapouytian Woods – Step clauses
- Andrew Behrman, Baker Botts – Dispute boards and expert determination
- Gunjan Sharma, Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher & Flom – Investment treaty planning

What one in-house counsel had to say about this CPR resource:

"The CPR Corporate Counsel Manual for Cross-Border Dispute Resolution is an outstanding resource for any in-house counsel responsible for international dispute resolution issues," says Kelly Tullier, EVP and General Counsel at Visa Inc. "The Manual provides valuable insights and guidance for all types and phases of alternative dispute resolution, enabling in-house counsel to more effectively manage and resolve their company's international disputes. I highly recommend it."
