The 2019 CPR Canada Conference is organized by the CPR Canada Advisory Board (CAB) in collaboration with Arbitration Place and is co-chaired by CAB Members Rachel A. Howie of Dentons Canada, P. John Landry of DLA Piper and David Ziegler of Fasken. The theme of this year's conference will be “Resolving the Unresolvable.”

At the conference, participants will engage in interactive panel discussions with distinguished in-house counsel and practitioners from Canada and the United States. The first panel titled “The Future of ADR” will explore how the ADR community is responding to recent attacks on and critiques of traditional arbitration and mediation, and how these and other ADR techniques can stay relevant as means to resolve disputes. The second panel will focus on the “Resolution of Complex, Multi-Stakeholder/Jurisdictional Disputes” and how ADR tools and mechanisms can efficiently be used by counsel to resolve these and other highly sensitive issues.
