

CPR Welcomes Three New Board Members

New York – March 14, 2018 – The International Institute for Conflict Prevention and Resolution (CPR), a global non-profit organization that advances dispute prevention and resolution practices and provides high quality solutions, announced the addition of three new board members, Taj J. Clayton, Jana J. Litsey and Fernando Eduardo Serec.

Taj Clayton is the Founding Litigation Partner of Winston & Strawn, LLP’s Dallas Office and chairs the firm’s Domestic Alternative Dispute Resolution Practice. During the Obama Administration, he served on President Obama’s Texas Finance Committee.

Jana Litsey serves as the General Counsel and Secretary of Huntington Bancshares and Senior Executive Vice President, General Counsel and Cashier of The Huntington National Bank.

Fernando Eduardo Serec is the Head of Tozzini Freire Advogados’ Litigation and Arbitration practice groups and has broad experience in real estate matters, complex financial contracts and a wide range of administrative law issues. He has worked on international arbitrations in Brazil, the United States and Europe at major international and local arbitration institutions.

“As CPR grows, our Board of Directors continues to attract the most talented practitioners from around the world,” said Noah Hanft, CEO and President of CPR. “Each impressive addition to our existing group of Directors enhances CPR’s ability to promote even greater innovation and excellence in addressing business conflicts, through a unique collaboration of in-house and law firm counsel, mediators, arbitrators and educators.”
