The Insurance Committee explores ways to effectively use mediation, arbitration and other processes when resolving disputes in which insurance coverage either is the subject, or by its presence otherwise affects the parties’ interests and conduct. CPR has long pioneered improvements in the resolution of insurance-related disputes, going back to the provision of neutrals under the Wellington Agreement. Past works include Mediation Principles for Insurer-Insured Disputes and the CPR International Reinsurance Industry Dispute Resolution Protocol.

The Committee is chaired by Peter Loughlin of Assurant and Jeffrey Bowen of Burns Bowen Bair LLP.

If you would like to join this committee, contact Ellen Parker.

Committee participation is open to CPR Members and Neutrals (by invitation) only.
